"Don't ask yourself what the world needs. Ask yourself what makes you come alive, and then go do that. Because what the world needs is people who have come alive."
(Howard Thurman)

What makes Cape Cod Friends come alive? Could it be that the world needs us to do those things? Can we articulate and share our personal leadings and needs, and support each other in following them?

In 2013, the American Friends Service Committee (AFSC) worked with the Friends Committee on National Legislation (FCNL) to articulate a vision they called "shared security" in which all the world's people have the ability to raise their families without fear or want. Achieving this vision will require action to address human needs of all sorts, on all scales: economy, environment and climate, social justice, education, local, national, international. There is truly a piece of the puzzle for each of us, and for all of us.

We will come to appreciate all that we are already doing and to expand our horizons in envisioning how our endeavors mesh into the world's shared security.

In preparation for the Seekers' Day, please read the "Shared Security" report (online at <http://sharedsecurity.wordpress.com/>) and meditate on how you are called to come alive in meeting the world's needs.

The discussions will be led by the Peace and Social Order Committee of the West Falmouth Friends Meeting and Martha Yager of the AFSC Southeast New England Office.

Soup and beverages will be provided. Please bring sandwiches, salads, or cookies to share.
